Ready for Business.

Harry Burton of Kansas City arrived here yesterday on the Northwestern road.

It is hard to say whose house would have been broken into if it had not been for the lucky fact of his meeting Officer Weir just as he alighted from his state room on the trucks. He was taken to the city jail and a search was made.

Found a skeleton key, while another, concealed in the flap of one of his coat pockets, almost missed the jailer's fingers. Burton was charged with having broken into his possession and will have a hearing tomorrow afternoon at 11 o'clock.

Had Willie Meagher.

P. H. Meagher brought his 10-year-old son, William, before Judge Thorne yesterday and asked to have him sent to the reform school on the ground of incorrigibility. His wife is dead, and during his absence at work the boy has had pretty much his own way. Several times he has used coercive measures to compel the boy to stay at home and the boy tried to burn the house down.

After hearing the case Judge Thorne made an order instructing the sheriff to take the boy to Eldora to be kept there until he is 21. The boy has a smart look, but the reform school seemed to have no terrors for him.

Charles Hendrix, who passed a worthless check for $20 on Ed Rogers, a saloon keeper, a week ago, had an preliminary hearing before Justice Cook yesterday, because Rogers failed to appear to prosecute.

The boys intended to burn the building down.

MADE THINGS INTERESTING.

Frank Howard Collier of Chicago Re-tains Himself in the Shaffer Case.

Frank Howard Collier, a well known, though decidedly eccentric attorney of Chicago, has been in the city for the past two or three days. He injected himself into the case of Shaffer against Manawa, a highway company yesterday morning as an attorney for the plaintiff, and by his queer antics brought in the first ray of sunshine that has illuminated the gloom for a good many days.

He had not been retained by Shaffer, but that made no matter. All Collier wanted was an attorney, in on good terms with him, and so raised no objection when Collier wanted to come in. Collier handed his card to Judge Thorne, telling him that it was necessary at any saloon in Council Bluffs or Omaha, accompanied by a drink, he could get a glass of beer, or 15 cents would make it a cocktail.

Judge Thorne, well known for his proclivities, of which Collier knew nothing, were what gave a tinge of humor to the scene. One of the witnesses put upon the stand by the defense was George A. Holmes, who had been paid $25 for his legal services. After Holmes had told his story Collier took him in hand to give him a cross-examination. Holmes was compelled to admit that he was an attorney, but only did so after the closest questioning. He also admitted that the money was paid him by Shaffer.

"Now, Mr. Holmes," said Collier, impressively shaking his fist at him, "do you think you earned that fee?"

"Well, yes," said Mr. Holmes, "that's all I can get now."

In conversation, Collier stated that he had already received $250 in the morning, and would have another $250 before night, as a retainer. He would also receive $125 a day for the time employed in the case. In the afternoon, Collier was driving with James Wickham, however, and Askwild had to look after the case by himself. During the day he preached his doctrine to a lady in the court room and was accepted.

remain permanently as its secretary. Having accomplished this task, which seemed at first almost hopeless, and the association having secured a worthy man to take his place, Mr. Curtis feels at liberty to take up work elsewhere.

His successor here is Mr. G. G. Baker, a young man who was here about seven years ago, and acted as secretary for about four months. During his absence he has taken a collegiate course, and has also gained much experience in association methods, so that he is said to be now fully equipped and qualified to continue the successful work started by Mr. Curtis.

Mr. Baker is expected to arrive here tomorrow, and a reception is being arranged for him Saturday night. Mr. Curtis will leave for his new field in about a week.

IOWA NEW JURY LAW QUESTIONED.

Prisoners in Several Cities Will Appeal to the Supreme Court.

—The trouble over the new Iowa jury law has broken out afresh. The old law provided for the drawing of a grand jury the first of each year. The new one made material changes in the manner of drawing the jurors and went into effect with the August, 1895, term. The court held, however, that the old jury having been drawn for a year might hold over until January 1, 1896. When court convened all the prisoners objected to the jury on the ground that it was improperly drawn. The objection was overruled and many inmates were sentenced to prison.

STUDYING CHINESE RIOTS

Joint Commission Gets Down to the Actual Work.

English and American Consuls Arrive at the Scene of the Ku Cheng Attacks and Hear the Taking of Testimony.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 9.—Private letters from Shanghai just received here announce that the commission appointed by the British and American governments to investigate the massacre of August 1 arrived at Foo Chow on August 13, at Suikow two days later and at Ku Cheng on August 17, without a shadow of molestation from the barbarous hordes alleged by Chinese officials to have established a reign of terror through the province.

The commission consists of the British consul, Mr. R. W. Mansfield, the American consul, Colonel J. Courtney Hixson, the British vice consul, E. L. B. Allen, from Padoga anchorage, Lieutenant Evans of the United States steamship Detroit, Rev. W. Bannister, representing the English Church Missionary Society and Dr. Gregory of the American Methodist Episcopal mission and an expert in the study of the Chinese language and a poor disciplined soldier, a circumstance which supports but feebly the Chinese contention that the massacre was entirely beyond official prevention owing to the country being in a state of anarchy.

Indications are high at the apathy of these governments in regard to the massacre. It is argued that the official defense is totally unconvincing.
